

Dear Brothers & Sisters,

This month we celebrated our 1-year anniversary of doing the Lord's work in Boston. We could not have done this without all of your encouragement, prayers, and support. Thank you!

Work of Evangelist

As mentioned last month, I ended the hospital meetup.com study. However, one of the visitors from that study mentioned an idea that I am going to try and pursue in the near future. She said that she is not able to come to our evening Bible studies because she commutes on the train, and staying in downtown until a 7 pm study would cause her to get home quite late. So, we are looking at creating a "commuters" Bible study that will begin shortly after the work day. The hope is to provide commuters an opportunity to study the Bible while still allowing them to get home at a decent time. I am excited about this idea, because I do believe that people who commute into the city for work are a demographic we are not able to serve with the evening studies.

My month was kept pretty busy with individual studies with several members of our congregation, teaching our Romans Bible class and the meetup.com studies, and sermon preparation. My hope for next month is to start studying again with John and beginning the commuters' Bible study.

Christians in Boston

In May our congregation is hosting a lecture series with a focus of reaching out to the community with the gospel. The design of these lectures is for a non-Christian who is seeking to know more about the Bible. The lessons will give a brief overview of the Bible, so that one can read any part of the Bible and have a basic knowledge of the overall story. Our church family is working to reach out to the community to invite through business cards, Metro newspaper ads, and Facebook. Please join us in praying for this effort that the lost will be reached and God will be glorified.

Justin Dobbs (former evangelist in Boston) and family came to visit one Wednesday in April (he had a meeting near-ish by in Albany, NY). Justin and his wife, Lindsey, began the work in Boston about 8 years ago. Our families were able to meet up for lunch. Although Justin and I have talked on the phone a few times, we had never met. It was so encouraging to spend time with him and Lindsey and share our experiences with each other of doing the Lord's work in Boston. The Dobbs were able to join our Wednesday night Bible class, and the rest of the congregation was greatly encouraged to see them again. They are very missed here.

Exton Bible Study

Last week, Dan and I attended a preacher Bible study in Exton, PA hosted by Jeff Smelser and the Christians there. Over 50 men came together from the northeast and midwest for a two-day intensive Bible study of the book of Isaiah. Although it was tiring, the time spent with these brothers studying this great book was worth it. I was uplifted by meeting so many men who continue to work hard to spread the gospel in this part of the country. Several of these men have influenced me without even knowing it. I am very thankful to God for all of these men and their work for Him!

Personal

We may have started a new tradition for our family (weather permitting ☺). Earlier this month, we went to watch the Boston Marathon. This day is a state holiday for Massachusetts and an incredible sight. It was truly inspiring to see – the top men and women flying by us (even at mile 24), the blind running with guides, parents/friends pushing their loved ones in wheelchairs. There are so many supporters lining the streets cheering everyone on. Our girls joined in the spirit by offering high-fives to the runners as they came by. The encouragement and cheers reminded me of the great cloud of witnesses in Hebrews 12.

To God be the glory in all that He has done!

His Servant,
